KNIT WITS

In a shady storeroom, two good-fellas prepare to initiate their junior partner into the “club”... or so it would seem. But sometimes, things aren’t always what they appear, and this is the premise of KNIT WITS, a five-minute dark comedy by award winning Writer-Director, Warren Eig.

KNIT WITS reunites two veteran actors, Robert Costanzo and John Capodice, along with Actor-Comedian, Darrin Reed and newcomer, Knitting Guru to the Stars, Edith Eig.

Written and Directed by Warren Eig; and Produced by Eig and Bryan Ashford, KNIT WITS brings together a talented cast and crew and takes the unwitting audience for an unexpected ride.

On the other side of the camera, Director of Photography, Matt Mania, lenses a dark underworld, and then takes the audience 180 degrees to a light and comic finish. Eig re-teams with Composer, Eric Colvin, who delivers a haunting, yet playful score that brings the whole film together.

Shot on location at La Knitterie Parisienne in Studio City, CA, in an eight-hour period, Eig completed the whole film in four days, including the original score by Colvin and the final sound mix. KNIT WITS was made on a non-existent budget, through the collaboration of favors from a talented group of friends.

“This was a fun exercise in filmmaking. And reuniting with my actors, Bobby [Costanzo], John [Capodice] and Darrin [Reed] plus directing my mother was fun.” said Director Warren Eig. “I wrote the script in an hour. Called my actors and they said yes. Eric [Colvin] was on board from the get go and Bryan [Ashford] helped put it all together. We did the whole film for $600.00.”

“Warren wrote another funny script. He has a lot of enthusiasm and he’s fun to work with,” said Robert Costanzo. “We gotta get this kid a feature.”

“We had a terrific time,” said John Capodice. “Warren’s great to work with and me and Bobby go way back. The crew was great and we had a lot of fun making this film.”
